Our initial consultation, a $200 value, is provided free of charge so that we can meet with you and discuss your network environment, goals, likes, dislikes and future I.T. plans. We then make recommendations that meet your specific needs and fit within your monthly budget.

Ongoing Management and Support

Management and Support of your I.T. environment is provided by regular on-site visits and remote access. We'll stay in contact with you to insure your needs are being met.

Network, System and End-User Support

Whether it's a server, desktop, laptop, printer or network issue, we will provide fast and efficient service. Be it over the phone, via email, remote access or on-site, we have you covered. While our intent is to insure that your systems and network are always up, we do understand that emergencies happen. So, rest assured, we'll make the necessary arrangements to be available for after-hours and emergency support.

Hardware and Software Procurement

We will assist you in acquiring the information you need for software, hardware, networking or any other technology/product, at a competitive price. We'll take care of the pre-sales support from vendors; assist with purchasing the product and tracking its delivery.

Project Management

As your company grows and changes, so does technology. This will eventually require changes to your I.T. environment, such as a server migration, operating system upgrades, desktop replacement or a number of other technical tasks. We'll help you with your Project plans and provide you with Recommendations and Estimates that include hardware/software costs, labor costs and a time line to complete the project.
